Yuletide Greetings from the Macfab family

How quick this time comes around - its December already!!

Macfab has been committed to an exorbitant amount of work the last few months leading up to Christmas and beyond!! We thank our dedicated staff for the many extra hours they have done to achieve these deadlines.

Our last safety seminar was held on Friday, Dec 9, headed again by Bluescope Steel, Mat Irons and Paul Travers.

Our guest speaker was John Capes from Aon discussing the new OH&S harmonisation laws that come into effect on Jan 1st 2012.

In the last newsletter we mentioned the Chamber Business Awards. Unfortunately we didn't win the "best small/medium business" category this year, but remained strong as a "finalist".

Current & ongoing projects:

- Bulahdelah upgrade
- Sapphire to Woolgoolga upgrade
- Bulk Water Alliance Joint Venture
- Kempsey Bypass upgrade
- Ballina Bypass upgrade
- Holbrook Bypass upgrade
- Dudley St bridge, Melbourne
- Banora Point upgrade
- OMP Alliance Sydney Water project
- South Morang Rail Extension project
- Monaro Highway upgrade
- McLeay River formwork
- Breakwater Bridge project

Bragging rights:

Macfab Engineering entered the annual Workcover Safe work Awards and was a Finalist in the category of "best solution to an identified workplace health and safety issue". Unfortunately we didn't progress past the finalist stage but are proud of our achievement, holding our own against some strong city competition.

Michelle and Mud take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support to our growing business and we look forward to continuing our relationship in 2012. May you and your family members have a very safe and prosperous Christmas and an exciting 2012.

Cheers, until 2012 Michelle, Mud and the Macfab team.

DA has finally come through & our new workshop will commence in the New Year!
